
ANMA President Announcement

Dr. Richard Drucker, MS, ND, PH.D. has been named as Interim ANMA President. Dr. Drucker has been involved with ANMA since 1999 and brings decades of experience.

Dr. Drucker has earned a Bachelor's of Science from the Indiana University, and has earned from Clayton College of Natural Health a Master's of Science in Natural Health, Doctorate in Naturopathy, and a Doctorate in Natural Health with specialty in Natural Immunology.

Dr. Richard Drucker, founder and CEO of Drucker Labs, suffered from health issues at a young age. Unable to find relief from his allopathic practitioners' approach, he conducted his own research and discovered the importance of high-quality, optimum nutrition on his own health.

Dr. Drucker founded Drucker Labs in 1999 and has become a highly respected authority in the field of natural health. He has dedicated his life to the pursuit of exceptional Organically-bound and proprietary nutritional products.
